LINEMAN MEETS DEATH.
Current of 2,300 Volts Passes Through Body While He Is Up Pole.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., June 27.—For four hours a high-voltage electric current of 2,300 volts of Raleigh worked heroically for the resuscitation of Vernon Bynum, electric lineman, who received a fatal shock while on a pole at the southwest corner of Capital Square, Raleigh, during the repair of the city fire alarm wires. As he worked at the line the side of his head came in contact with the power wires of the Carolina Power and Light Company, and his arm touched a companion wire. The circuit was established, and the full voltage flashed through his body. Harry Tatum, a young white man, learning the work, and a negro helper, were helping string the wire and gave the alarm. It required half an hour to get rope and ladders necessary to lower the poor man. Bynum was thirty years old and unmarried.

The excessive use of stimulants, coupled with the worry of managing a big business, is said to have unhinged his mind. Just a year ago an older brother, Charles F. Wadsworth, committed suicide at Greensboro, while on a business trip to that city. Young Wadsworth was thirty-eight years old and unmarried.

CASE CONTINUED UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Williamson Seeks to Escape Trial by Unusual Plea.

POLICE OFFICER ACQUITTED

Petersburg Grays Will Attend Encampment at Gettysburg.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 169 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., June 27.

The case of Julius A. Williamson, under indictment for forgery, which was set for trial in the Hastings Court to-day, was tentatively continued until Wednesday. The case has some peculiar aspects. Williamson, while still in jail, has been convicted of bigamy and sentenced to a term of four years and six months in the State penitentiary. Some ten days ago when the forgery charge was called, his counsel, Peck & Peck, of Richmond, and Robert Gilliam, Jr., of this city, entered the plea that as Williamson is a convict, under sentence, he could not be tried for any other crime until he had served his sentence in the penitentiary. The court intimated that the plea was a good one, but that it might be tested before the Court of Appeals, sustained the Commonwealth's motion to reject it and set the forgery charge for hearing to-day. In the meantime it was understood that counsel for the accused should apply to the Supreme Court for a writ prohibiting this trial until after the expiration of the penitentiary sentence.

It was ascertained that a writ of prohibition would not lie unless issued by the Court of Appeals while in session, and this court had adjourned on the 14th. Counsel for the accused thereupon applied to Judge Keith for the writ, but he declined to issue it on the ground of lack of jurisdiction, but expressed no opinion as to the merits of the case. To-day the Commonwealth's attorney asked for a trial of the case, but it was decided to lay it over until Wednesday. The trial of Williamson on the charge of wife-murder depends on the decision as to this plea.

Acquitted of Murder Charge.
Justices Dunstan, Lundy and Rhodes, sitting as a court of magistrates, had the case of Police Officer Edward Bridges, charged with the killing of L. M. Moore, before them for examination on Saturday afternoon in Ettrick. In a trouble which occurred between the two men recently, Bridges was shot down and Moore was killed, the latter firing the first shot. The court acquitted the officer on the ground of justifiable defense.

It is understood there will be bidders for the work from Petersburg, Richmond and Norfolk. The cost of the building is roughly estimated at $125,000.

Exciting Chase.

The people along Davis and Hinton Streets were much excited Sunday morning by the rapid reports of pistol shots. A young man named William Gallion had been arrested by a police officer, and as he was walking down High Street to the station he broke through the officer's hands and ran. The officer gave pursuit, and during the chase fired his pistol several times, with the view of bringing the fugitive to a halt. Gallion was captured after a long run.

MR. DORSET RESIGNS
Pastor of Leigh Street Baptist to Retire After Long Service.

Following eight years of active service as pastor of the Leigh Street Baptist Church, Rev. Watson S. Dorset has tendered his resignation to the members of his congregation. In his letter of resignation, which was read to the congregation following the Sunday morning service, the pastor stated that he had arrived at the conclusion that he had completed his usefulness in this charge, and asked that he be allowed to retire August 1st. The resignation was referred to the board of deacons, and it will probably report to the congregation at the next fortnight.

Dr. Dorset came to Richmond from South Carolina, and the Leigh Street Church has flourished under his guidance. He is very popular with the members of his congregation, and his resignation came in the nature of a surprise. Mr. Dorset stated last night that he had no definite plans for the future.
